

The Learning Salesperson

Transformational Webinars

Delivered live and interactive to your desk via WebEx™

Each session is tailored to the issues participants are facing. Bring your toughest current opportunities to each session for real-time coaching on real-life selling situations.

Each session will be recorded, with audio and slides, for review or catch-up.

Participants should be at their computers for the entire session. A headset is recommended and a webcam is optional.

Content is targeted to salespeople and businesses selling to the commercial market.

Not recommended if you are selling directly to the government.

Top executive coach Tony Mayo is launching a new program for experienced salespeople.
